Words of Farewell

As the flowers wilt and the seasons change, the memories of you forever remains.

Your laughter echoes in the quiet moments and through every sunrise we feel your warmth, in every sunset we feel your peace.

Though time moves on and days drift away, your light endures a flame that never fades.

You live within our hearts, a beautiful soul whose presence time will never let fade.

Although the world feels a little dimmer without you here, your spirit shines brightly through those you loved.

We see you in the smiles you helped shape.

Now you can rest in perfect peace, whole and healthy once more.

You may have left this earth, but you will never leave our hearts, your heartbeat continues on forever, eternally engraved into ours.
